My life is an unfinished song . . . Millions of words scrambled on paper.

For long you'll live
and high you'll fly
Smiles you'll give
and tears you'll cry
All you touch
and all you'll see is all your life will ever be.
-Pink Floyd

ryl Ann Meehan moved to Ipswich in the fall of 1983 and was kly accepted to the fifth grade class at Doyon School. Over the t six years Sheryl became a very good friend to all who truly knew Her unique smile and wave in the halls were a warm greeting to ryl's personality was completely her own. The funny things she i to do will never be forgotten by her friends, teachers, team and smates.

eryl had these green sweatpants that she wore almost everyday soccer practice and gym class."

"Every morning she would bring cereal in a baggie for breakfast and she would eat it in English class."

"Sheryl had the best advice on eating powdered donuts, 'Don't inhale"

"No matter what anyone says Sheryl was the best friend ever, no one can ever take that away."

Each of us wishes that at some point we could turn back the hands of time, hoping to make everything different. We know now that it is impossible. But the memories will last forever, and Sheryl will always be in our hearts.

SENIORS

The hallowed halls of our Ipswich High sing silently to us a tender goodbye,

Some of us walk, some run, some fall and die, Some smile and fly.

In front of us the sun is rising on a real world that awaits us

We take this time to watch this last easy moment sinking behind us

We promise we will remember each other and the things we learned together and we'll try to concentrate on creating perpertual peace and making our imprints last forever.

This is not a goodbye, it's a chance to let loose to be free to do what we know is right

This is the time that tests our quality of mind, Goodbye, my friends, goodbye.

With out realizing it, we all fill important places in each others lives. Good people who are always "There," who can be relied upon in small important ways. People who Teach us, Bless us, Encourage us, Support us, Up lift us in the dailiness of life. We never thank them. I don't know why, but we don't. Don't sell your self short.
You may never have proof of your important than you think.

STUDENT LIFE

Student life is one thing that every student of the high school can relate to. "Where's the party at?, Where's the meeting?, What time should I be there?", and the infamous "Is that tonight?", are questions known to us all. Many of the grueling activities that demand answers to these questions, are done by the majority. What is predominately non-characteristic to most high school's is commonplace to ours. That is the one thing that sets Ipswich apart, everyone is like one big happy family, O.K. maybe not always happy, but you get the point.

In Ipswich, many teens devote their time to bettering themselves. Either by having a job, participating in school activities, or playing sports, the Ipswich teen is generally on the go. Although a few of us do tend to be a little lazy, most of us are willing to take advantage of our situation. That situation being, that we are still the youth of America, maybe not for much longer, but for now we are it. So whether you grind blizzards at the Dairy Queen, stock shelves at Cape Ann, waitress at William's, or just veg out and watch TMNT, you have a life: an Ipswich student-family life, one that we are all fortunate to posses.

Never forget all the great times we shared together.
-John Willard

Summer Jobs

Summer Jobs

Ahhh yes, the ridiculous concept of hard labor. As these pictures indicate, the endeavors attempted by I.H.S. were rigorous in the extreme. We did it all, from saving drowning women in skimpy bikinis, to being a "petroleum distribution clerk", to waitressing at William's Bakery, to shoveling cow dung into the Ipswich river. These valuable lessons taught will allow the lot of us to venture into the working world someday soon.

FACULTY

The Senior Class of 1991 wishes to thank the faculty of the Ipswich High School for their never ending support. Yes, at times we may have been a little rambunctious, a little out of control, even down right bad, but the teachers and the administration stood by us one hundred percent. Many times we as students did not understand why our High School was so strict so in turn we resented it, but now, upon our graduation we realize it was to better ourselves as people. So to all the faculty we say a job well done. Now as we look in the mirror we realize we are better, better students, better friends, and better human beings. Do not worry because we, as a class, refuse to disappoint you.

SPIRIT

The tiger stands for spirit, of something to be proud.

Wiether it's standing room only, or just the hometown crowd.

And when the game is over, when all the practice is done.

We'll ask ourselves these questions:

Was this the one? Did I play to my ability? Did I pass the coach's test?

Only YOU can answer the question

Did I do my best?

FOOTBALL

The football team this year tried hard. As usual and acomplished a great deal. The varsity team will be losing several substantial contributors to the team, but the underclassmen, who will fill their shoes will do a great job. "Good luck guys."

Field Hockey

For the first time in recent years, and following a slue of ties, the Tiger field hockey team failed to qualify for the playoffs. But as their record indicates, it wasn't a failure at all, as the girls missed the "states" by only one win.

At I.H.S., the field hockey team has been one of the brightest spots of our high school sports program, for many years. Although our school is smaller than most of our competition, there always seems to be an upcoming group of young women who carry on the "commitment to excellence" oath with pride and confidence. This year was no exception. Even after dropping a game 5-0, the lady Tigers buckeled down, learned from their mistakes, and held that same team scoreless the second time around. Regardless of the weather, injuries, or other various obstacles, the girls showed continuous character, and as has come to be expected, arrived at the best record of any fall sport this season.

BOYS SOCCER

After a flawless pre-season, the Ipswich boys soccer team, entered their season with great expectations. By gaining a quality new coach and a lot of talent, many believed this would the tigers year. But those hopes were soon dashed as the tigers dropped their first seven games, the first five of those losses, by the score of 2-1. With a playoff birth now impossible, the tigers continued playing hard and completed the second half of the season with a 3-5-1 record. Three of those last five losses were also by the now infamous score of 2-1, bringing the total of 2-1 losses to eight by the end of the season. Through good times and bad, the boys team kept their heads and had three all stars by years end. They also completed the season without being shut out once, which is a first for the boys soccer team ever. The J.V. team had a great season under their new coach, boasting the best record this high school has seen for J.V. boys soccer. Nice work to all the guys of "THE PITCH".

One of the ladies many drills, was to run around Ipswich with the goal, and ask old people for spare change

The girls soccer team had a very positive year. Although they only won four games and tied one, they finished the season strong. As the autumn progressed, so did the teams talents and abilities. The "never say die" attitude, which all the girls possessed was respected throughout the league. Constantly pulling together was a given with these young ladies, and near the end of the season, goals were becoming a commonplace. These girls worked, struggled, won and lost as a team. Always there for one another and never letting down has taught them more than any championship victory could have. It taught them that as a team, they could be champions in their own right.

FALL CHEERLEADING

Cheerleaders—the unsung hero's of fall sports. Each one of these girls are spirit in human form. Many days were cold, many athletes frustrated, but smiles never left their exhuberant faces. These girls were possibly the proudest of all autumn athletes, as they seemed to bring an air of ease to every playing surface they graced. Stomping feet and rhythmic chants is what these ladies were asked to do, and they delivered better then Federal Express Overnight. They made taking defeat possible and winning a piece of cake, not much more can be asked.

BOYS BASKETBALL

Boy's Basketball

What can we say about basketball? These boys worked really hard, only to lose some real heartbreakers. All should be commended on their effort and perserverance. GIRLS BASKETBALL

Girl's Basketball

The girls basketball team had a tremendous year, once again. With three all-stars and one all league player, as well as the luxury of having a bench, these girls played their hearts out the entire season. The younger girls of the squad showed the depth that Ipswich basketball is capable of, by all proving to be quality varsity players. Although the team was slowed by injuries, it did not keep them from the tournament. The seniors will be missed, but the younger players are more than able to pick up the slack and are ready and willing to do so. Nice work gals.

The boys track team was loaded this year with returning talent. With only a small amount of athletes available, the guys did very well, with three of their members making state competition. Hard practices and overall dedication allowed the guys to beat many schools that have beat Ipswich in the past. This team is well equipped and the leadership and coaching are uncomparable, they had a fantastic indoor campaign.

Led by captains Chris Bocci, Craig Dupray and Mike Rousseau, the Ipswich Hockey squad fore-checked their way through yet another tough season. The teams they faced often had players twice the size of our Tigers, but our boys in orange gave us some great thrills and great victories by sheer strength and will. Extracurricular activities are an important part of school to most teenagers. They allow us to use our talents, such as in drama or music, and groups like The Leadership Project and Key club teach us to help others in our community. Clubs and activities also make us more responsible individuals because we have to budget our time carefully in order to participate. We also learn about the word committment when involved in activities. But the most important part of being in extracurricular activities is that they're a lot of fun.

ART CLUB

The Art Club is an afterschool activity where there is planned project or time for an open studio. Members work on what ever the project may be or what ever they have planned for that time. This year our Art Club and Masconomet's Art Club have been working together and are planning a field trip for Masco's students to come and see the local art work.

The Leadership Project is a team of students and adults who recognize the problems that teenagers face and subsequently try to change them through interrelating. One of the main issues the group tries to attack is drug and alcohol use. This year, under the guidance of new directory Ginny Larman, the group had many successful activities including a police-student diologue night as well as asseblies for younger students in the Ipswich School System.

KEY CLUB

This club is one of the most caring of the extra-curricualar activities. By saving the pop tops of the tonic and juice cans, the members raise money for, not themselves, but for children diagnosed with cancer. On a consistant basis, these high school students work to help the community and those less who are less fortunate then them. They are a responsible group who have an awareness for their fellow man, and are willing to help those needing it.

-John Willard

RECYCLING CLUB

People who care make up this club. It is a group of young men and women who are willing to take the time to attempt to preserve our increasingly faltering surroundings. By collecting and returning re-usable paper, styrofoam, and aluminum, these young environmentalists gain a great sense of accomplishment and a well deserved one at that. All it takes is a little time and a little effort. Hopefully this club will be around for some time.

The Math League is a group of novice "mathematicians" that go to nearby schools to test their math knowledge against other teams. There are six different categories at each meet, with topics ranging from Algebra I time/distance problems to trigonomety and analysis. There is also sometimes a dreaded "team round" in which the team is given a set of problems from various branches of math to be worked on collectively. The high scorers of the meet are often rewarded with food left over from the snack break. The IHS Math Team is known for its optimism even in the face of defeat and crazy bus rides to and from meets.

The Science League is a club whose members attend a "meet" approximately once a month. At these meets, Ipswich competes against many other schools in different categories designed to test knowledge of biology, chemistry and physics. Each meet has three different events. Meets can be a lot of fun, especially when searching for elusive leeches and hymenoptera during field events!

BANK

A new feature at the Ipswich High School this year is the bank and finance course. In conjunction with Ipswich Cooperative Bank, the class opened bank in the high school. It allows students to work within the bank and learn how to be tellers and customer service representatives. And it allows other students to open accounts without a co-signer. It is a valuable learning experience for all those involved.

Business Professionals of America is the organization for business students. It encourages students to excel and compete in a skill. The competition takes place every March with students from approximately 15 other schools throughout the state. They compete in areas such as Business Law, Accounting, computers, and many others. If they are successful at the state level, they are eligible to compete at the national level with students from the country.

SPEECH

The only class where you will be ASKED to gab. With five minute oral dissertations and readings to the school, this course would test the nerves of Arnold Shwarzenegger. The guys and gals of room 109 know exactly what I'm talking about. To learn the proper way to talk, gesture, and even look at people were taught to us, each one a partial revelation of it's own. The class would like to thank Mrs. Faust for teaching them those techniques as well as many more. I'm sure that I am not alone when I say it was one of the funnest classes of my high school career.

The IHS Concert Choir is a musical group consisting of people who just like to sing, or who also wish to further develop their musical skills. There are also occasional solo opportunities which the students can audition for. Members of the Concert Choir are also able to audition for Bel Canto, the select singing group, as well as audition for the Northeast Senior District Chorus. The class performs many different types of music in many different styles, and the students also have some input as to which pieces they would like to perform. Also, the class involves an introduction to sight-reading, and sight-singing, as well as ear training exercises. In the spring the choir attends a choral competition where they perform against other schools and get to hear different groups of singers. This is a wonderful class for people who enjoy learning more about music and using the voice to its highest potential.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The "Student Reps" as they are refered to are a little group of people, who are willing to see to it, that students feelings and desires are understood by the higher authorities. By attending seminars with United States senators and working with various societies, these elected highschool members are able to express issues and typics, important to the everyday teen. The representatives participate in local telethons and create surveys to better their surroundings fro themselves and their classmates. When you are in contact with one of the "reps", make sure to shake their hand, because their time and effort is to be commended.

NATIONAL HONORS SOCIETY

The creme' de la creme', the top banana's, the pick of the litter. Those compliments apply to every single I.H.S. student, so just imagine what those belonging to the National Honor Society must be like. The students who are members of the N.H.S. are a well-rounded bunch of men and women, who have spent their time to benefit themselves and those who surround them. By consistant performances in such area's as academics, community service, leadership, and many others, the members have earned a well deserved respect from their community and their peers. They have preserved what their society has asked of them with the utmost professionalism.

Who Am I?

Sometimes I feel like a stranger in my own mind. I realize that I don't really know who I am or what I want. Sometimes I feel like a prisoner to my own dreams and wishes. I feel that I am trapped by commitment, frightened by the future. Sometimes I feel like an explorer in the depths of what lies behind this heavy mask of conformity. It's like an exciting adventure to uncover my strengths to expose my fears. Then I realize no one can know who they really are because we keep changing our minds.

Images of the Night

I stand underneath the moon's soft, subtle beams of light,
I am alone, yet comfortable by the surrounding presence of the gentle night.
Great, swaying trees reach out to the wind, they capture its touch amidst their rustling leaves.

Slender blades of grass shimmer in the dark as they flow in sweeping waves; the air is filled with song of crickets - a sweetness unknown to the passing days.

A pleasant, peaceful scent fills my nostrils, my limbs feel light, my mind rests at ease.

Countless stars, in undying wisdom, shine forth kindly light from above; tranquility is the essence of this night, and softly whispered love.

I am suspended in this expression of harmony.

My spirit, seeking freedom, escapes into the beauty of this majestic night . . .

Every high school yearbook done in America, has a closing, which some unfortunate individual is forced to produce. Asking a sole person to summarize the events and memories created in an entire year, so that four-hundred students' feeling's are appeased, is like asking Vanilla Ice to get some soul, or Larry Bird to dunk! Lets face it, their are just some things that a person should not be expected to accomplish. But in a valiant attempt, I present to you my personal feelings, which I hope, at least the majority can relate to.

Although it may not seem as such, it has been over nine months since our school's door's opened, beginning academic year 1990-91. In that time, that I'm sure seemed an eternity, many things took place. But the thing that occurred the most, was the manifestation and continuance of good friendships and good times, after all that is what high school should be all about. Being a senior, as my time to graduate crept up on me, my life was put more and more into perspective. I realized that I'm outta' here and many of these kids that are around me are never going to be seen by my eyes again. I found that I wasn't ready to go into the world, and to get my own job, and fend for myself, and live on my own, or, most of all, to never see those simple aquaintences again. I'm gonna' miss that kid that passed me without failure, every third period in second wing. I'm gonna' miss that group of obnoxious freshmen who always pushed their buddies into me. I'm gonna miss meeting the "new kids" that always join Ipswich in the middle of the year. I'm going to miss all of them, no matter how unsubstantial they were to my life.

Thinking back, I envy those younger then me, for they are still finding out about themselves, in a secure environment. I, on the other hand, am put into a completely undesireable situation and told to enjoy it. I am hesitant to believe that those who have told me they are "psyched to get out of this place", are being truly honest with me, or to themselves.

In retrospect this year has been a good one, no, not just good, great. I'm sure I speak for everyone when I say that, deep down I will miss '90-'91. It taught me more than I bargained for. As for the seniors, I just say, remember your friends the way they are. I am told that you "make your real friends in college". Well, if that's the case, then how come those people who tell you that, happen to be home from college visiting their old friends—from high school.

So, in conclusion, and hopefully on behalf of the school, I say farewell to all the clashes and cliques at I.H.S. As for my friends I simply say goodbye. I can not cry for you, for fear of abandonment. We all know that society put us all in catch-22 situations at some point. But I can say this, that I will miss you, that I will remember you, that I will see you again, and that you are the greatest things that have ever happened to me. And for all those who, because of society, have been to afraid to tell their friends how they truly felt, I will say it for you - - - I love you guys.

The making of a yearbook takes patience, time, cooperation, and of course money. The patience, effort and workmanship came naturally, the money, on the other hand, had to be earned. The yearbook staff would like to thank all those businesses who supported us in the making of the yearbook. Their assistance shows that the various establishments which occupy and grace the following pages are reliable and just. The staff and the entire school, have the utmost respect for you.
